Cull cites this but ought to have made more use of it. Many would say, the atrocities of Nazi Germany. And that is certainly part of the truth.

With the help of talents as varied as those of matinee idol Leslie Howard, Oxford philosopher Isaiah Berlin and society photographer Cecil Beaton, no section of America remained untouched and no method--from Secret Service intrigue to the publication of horrifying pictures of Nazi atrocities--remained untried. But President Roosevelt and his intelligence czar, William Donovan, approved. Cull might have made more use of an important book published in
